

Booking system update

A clear guide to course bookings, paid workshop bookings, notifications, session limits, confirmations, and reminders.

Two booking journeys are now supported.

Course booking: Students use an existing course package and do not pay through the calendar.

Workshop booking: Students choose a date and time, continue to WooCommerce payment, and receive automated messages.

WHAT HAS BEEN ADDRESSED

Course names can be edited from the studio console.

WooCommerce products can be connected to paid workshops.

Every active administrator and selected additional address can receive booking alerts.

Students receive confirmations and two day reminders.

Each workshop session can have its own participant limit.

The refund and WhatsApp contact policy appears before payment and in student emails.

SECTION 01

Change a course or workshop name

Open Courses, select the course on the left, edit Course or workshop name, then select Save changes.

The new name appears in the student booking calendar. Future classes that still use the original course name are updated automatically. A class with its own custom title keeps that custom title.

IFDA

This is the name students see in the booking calendar. Matching future class titles are renamed automatically; custom class titles stay as they are.

Copy the address of an image already on your website. Leave empty for no photo.

The highlighted field controls the name students see in the calendar.

SECTION 02

Connect a WooCommerce product

Create the product in WordPress, then open WooCommerce, select Products, and copy the product ID.

In the Mizuki Studio console, open Settings. Add or find the course, choose Shop payment, and enter the number in Shop product. For a complete course sold as one package, enter the product ID inside its Set courses card.

A paid workshop shows Not on sale yet until a valid product ID is connected. This prevents bookings from entering an incomplete checkout journey.

+ Add a course

Changing the class size here only affects classes created from now on. To change one that already exists, open it on the calendar.

Set courses

Courses booked as a whole run rather than one date at a time. One purchase books every date.

Not bookable

Each paid course or workshop connects to its WooCommerce product ID.

SECTION 03

Choose who receives booking alerts

Open Team and find Where booking alerts go. Every active administrator receives alerts automatically. Additional addresses can receive alerts without receiving access to the studio console.

Use Edit extra addresses to add an address. Use Remove beside an additional address when it should stop receiving alerts. The routing applies to every course and workshop, including IFDA and all other programmes.

SECTION 04

Student confirmation emails

A course student receives a confirmation when the course booking is completed. A paid workshop student continues to WooCommerce checkout. Their place is held while payment is completed, and confirmation is sent when payment is accepted and the booking is confirmed.

The confirmation includes the workshop details, refund policy, WhatsApp contact information, and a calendar invitation.

Email delivery can be checked under Settings in Connected services. The status shows whether sending is ready, and Test email key confirms delivery before accepting live bookings.

SECTION 05

Automatic reminder two days before

The system sends each confirmed student a reminder two days before the course or workshop. It includes the date, time, location, refund policy, and WhatsApp contact details.

The delivery job records whether the reminder was queued, which makes failed email configuration visible instead of leaving the studio without an explanation.

SECTION 06

Create regular and seasonal workshops

Add the workshop once as a paid course in Settings, connect its WooCommerce product ID, and add its student information in Courses.

For every available time, open Calendar and select Add class. Choose the workshop, then set the date, start time, duration, participant limit, and title.

This allows a morning session to have eight participants while an afternoon session of the same workshop has twelve.

Every workshop session receives its own date, time, duration, title, and class size.

SECTION 07

Set the capacity for each session

Open a session from the calendar and use the controls under Class size. The change applies only to the selected date and time.

Use Held back to reserve places for students booking through WhatsApp or another manual channel. Held places are not offered online.

Session capacity and held places are managed independently.

CUSTOMER JOURNEY

The workshop customer can view available dates, choose one session, see availability, pay through WooCommerce, receive confirmation, and receive a reminder two days before the workshop.

Workshop policy

No refunds are available within 48 hours of the workshop. If you need to reschedule or have a question, please contact us on WhatsApp at +65 8821 9386.
