

Booking system update

Course bookings remain simple for enrolled students. Workshop customers can now choose a session, see the live WooCommerce price, select several participants, and continue directly to payment.

Course booking

Students with a course package continue booking lesson dates through the calendar. Individual lesson payment is not required.

Workshop booking

Guests enter an email for the confirmation and reminder, but they do not create a password. One customer can reserve and pay for several participants.

The client questions answered

1. Email: Required for the booking confirmation, payment receipt, and reminder. No workshop password is required.
2. Price: Imported from the connected WooCommerce product and shown automatically in the calendar and booking form.
3. Several participants: One customer can choose the group size. The system reserves that exact number of places.
4. Payment: Continue to payment now opens the connected product and proceeds through WooCommerce checkout.

01 Course names and WooCommerce connection

The studio controls course names and product connections from the console.

Change a name from Courses. Select the course, edit Course or workshop name, then select Save changes. Future classes using the original name update automatically. A class with a custom title keeps that title.

Connect a workshop product from Settings. Paste the public WooCommerce product page into Shop product link. The system finds the internal product code, product name, and current price automatically.

02 Booking alert recipients

Every active administrator receives alerts. Extra addresses can receive alerts without console access.

Open Team and look under Where booking alerts go. Use Edit extra addresses to add a recipient. Use Remove beside an extra address when it should stop receiving alerts.

This routing applies to IFDA, Ikebana, Fresh Flower, Preserved Flower, Bouquet, and every new course or workshop added later.

The screenshot displays the 'Team' management page in the Mizuki Studio system. At the top right, a teal button labeled 'Add or remove alert addresses' is visible. The main content area is divided into several sections. The 'Admins' section shows a table with columns for Studio, Name, Email, and Status. Below this, the 'Students' section includes a form to add a new student. The 'Courses' section has a dropdown for 'How do they get in?' with two options: 'Send them a link' (selected) and 'Set a password now'. The 'Settings' section at the bottom is titled 'Where booking alerts go' and contains a list of email addresses for alert recipients. One address, 'akibzawayed0079@gmail.com', is highlighted with a red box and a 'Remove' button next to it. Below the list is an 'Edit extra addresses' button.

03 Confirmation and reminder emails

The message follows the type and status of the booking.

1. A course student receives confirmation when the course booking is completed.
2. A workshop place is held during WooCommerce checkout. Confirmation is sent only after payment is accepted.
3. A reminder is sent automatically two days before the class.
4. The confirmation includes a calendar invitation.
5. Workshop messages include the participant count and workshop policy.

Open Settings, then Connected services. The status shows whether sending is ready. Test email key confirms delivery before accepting live bookings.

04 Create regular and seasonal workshops

Create the workshop once, then add each available session to the calendar.

In Settings, add the workshop as Shop payment and paste its WooCommerce product page link. In Courses, add the description and student information.

For every available time, open Calendar and select Add class. Choose the workshop, then set the date, start time, duration, participant limit, and title.

05 Set capacity for each session

Each workshop session has its own participant limit.

Open the session from the calendar and use Class size. A morning session can have eight places while an afternoon session has twelve.

Held back reserves places for WhatsApp or manual bookings. Those places are not offered online.

When a customer chooses three participants, three places are reserved together. The complete group is checked against the remaining capacity before checkout starts.

The screenshot displays the Mizuki Studio booking system interface. On the left is a dark sidebar with navigation options: Search, Notifications, Calendar (selected), Students, Dashboard, and various management tools. The main area shows a calendar for September. A session titled 'Ikebana Workshop' for Sunday 13 September (10:00 AM - 12:30 PM) is selected, opening a detail panel on the right. This panel has a teal header 'Adjust this session only'. It shows session statistics: 0 Booked, 8 On sale, 0 Held back, and 8 Class size. Two sections are highlighted with red boxes: 'CLASS SIZE' with a minus button, the number 8, and a plus button, followed by the text 'places in the room'; and 'HELD BACK FOR CHAT BOOKINGS' with a minus button, the number 0, and a plus button, followed by the text 'kept off the website'. Below these is a section 'WHO IS COMING (0)' with a '+ Add student' button and the text 'Nobody booked yet.' At the bottom of the panel are 'Cancel class', 'Delete', and 'Done' buttons.

06 Workshop customer experience

The booking form now contains every detail needed before payment.

1. Choose an available date and time.
2. See the current WooCommerce price and remaining availability.
3. Choose the number of participants and optionally add their names.
4. Enter contact details with no password or sign in step.
5. Continue directly to WooCommerce checkout.
6. Receive confirmation after payment and a reminder two days before the workshop.

07 Workshop policy and payment protection

The requested policy appears before payment and in the confirmation and reminder emails.

No refunds are available within 48 hours of the workshop. If you need to reschedule or have a question, please contact us on WhatsApp at +65 8821 9386.

Payment protection

The booking system holds the selected places while the customer pays. The actual WooCommerce product link is used, the correct quantity is placed in the cart, and the customer proceeds to checkout. If payment is abandoned, the held places return to availability automatically.

What the studio needs to do

1. Install Mizuki Booking Bridge version 1.18.0 in WordPress.
2. Open Settings in the Mizuki Studio console.
3. Paste each workshop product page into Shop product link.
4. Confirm the price shown beside the product name.
5. Run one live low value or test mode WooCommerce order before public launch.

Ready for use

The course journey, workshop journey, participant capacity, payment handoff, confirmation, reminder, alert routing, and workshop policy are included in the latest system and WordPress plugin package.
